

Sales Development Representative (SDR) - Job Description

We're Clarity, a well-funded startup building the best-in-class AI-powered data analytics agent. ClarityQ serves as a coworker for analysts, while it also lets business teams talk to their data in plain language. No SQL, no dashboards, no waiting for analysts. Just ask any data question and get an answer. We're backed by top Israeli VCs and angel investors, led by founders who've already built and exited successful startups, and we're growing fast across various verticals.

We are looking for an SDR that will be a core team member to join us on this exciting journey.

What You'll Actually Do

You'll own the top of our sales funnel across the US and Europe - but this isn't a traditional "smile and dial" SDR role. You'll use AI agents, enrichment tools, and automation to research prospects, craft hyper-personalized outreach, and build a pipeline that actually converts. Think of yourself as part salesperson, part growth hacker, part AI power user.

Day to day, that looks like:

- Researching and identifying high-potential accounts using AI research agents and data tools
- Running multi-channel outbound (email, LinkedIn, calls) with messaging you've optimized using AI writing and testing tools
- Building and managing a qualified pipeline in our CRM
- Scheduling demos and sales meetings, including helping prep for industry events
- Feeding market insights back to our product and marketing teams - your prospect conversations shape what we build
- Collaborating directly with leadership to refine outreach strategies, test new plays, and iterate fast

What We're Looking For:

- AI-native: You already use ChatGPT, Claude, AI agents, or automation tools in your daily workflow - and you're always experimenting with new ones. You get excited about prompt engineering, AI-powered research, and finding smarter ways to work.
- Self-Starter: You thrive in a fast-paced, unstructured environment and are excited by the challenge of building from scratch
- A strong communicator: You write sharp, clear, personalized emails and messages. You can explain a technical product in a way that makes people want to learn more.
- Driven and resilient: You're energized by targets, comfortable with rejection, and motivated to turn cold leads into warm conversations.

- Curious: You genuinely want to understand how companies use data, where they struggle, and how AI can change the game.

Qualifications

- 2+ years as an SDR or in a similar outbound sales role at a tech company
- Excellent English - written and verbal
- Hands-on experience with CRMs, sales engagement platforms, and email automation
- Proven comfort with AI tools for research, personalization, and productivity
- Startup experience is a strong plus

Why ClarityQ

- You'll be an early team member at a company redefining how businesses interact with data
- You'll work directly with experienced founders who've built and sold companies before
- You'll have real ownership and influence over our go-to-market strategy
- You'll be surrounded by people who believe AI isn't just a buzzword - it's how we work every day

Interested? Send your CV to only@clarityq.ai